

PICTURE STARS ON LOCAL SCREENS

MARIE DORO,
at the Bijou.BILLIE BURKE,
at the Bijou.RUBY FLOYD,
at the Odeon.GEORGE BEBAN,
at the Colonial.THEDA BARA,
at the Isis.LOIS MEREDITH, at the Victor.BILLIE GLASER,
at the Rex.

In Chinese Picture

Mary Pickford, who will soon be seen in three new pictures with scenes laid in New York, Jacksonville and Savannah, has engaged Alice Lee, the Chinese girl at the Clardige Hotel, to appear with her in one of the scenes. Alice Lee is an American-born girl of fifteen living at 32 Mott Street, New York. Her father is an laundryman in Baltimore. The other day Miss Pickford and Miss Lee with her to Chinatown to get some atmosphere for her forthcoming picture and to arrange with the child's mother for her appearance.

REALISTIC FIGHT ENDS
CARD GAME BEFORE LENS

One of the most realistic fights that has ever been staged at the American studio at Santa Barbara was filmed recently by Frank Borzage while directing a highly dramatic "Flying A" feature with an excellent cast including Vivian Rich, George Petrie, Alfred Vosburgh and Louise Lester.

The fight concluded a card game, and at its finish the injuries included a swelled face, a cut wrist, a torn set where a thrown chair poked one leg through the canvas, and several ruined suits of clothes.

There is nothing fake about Frank Borzage's picture, as this capable director and his entire company believe thoroughly in the height of realism.

New Comedy King

Davy Don, a photoplay filmmaker, is a rising star who appears to have reached the zenith of screen popularity with audiences who are partial to comedy. Mr. Don's capabilities in this line were first discovered by the Lubin Company and have been brought to high pitch under the skillful direction of Edward McKim. The Lubin Company has just issued the first of a regis-

"The Touchstone" is the title of a five-reel picture Mutual Masterpiece, to date Edition, now being produced by Director Edwin Middleton, of the Mutual-Michigan studios at Florida Bay. Stephen Earl C. Schenck, Helen Martin, John Betthard, Henry Pemberton, Olive Trevor and James Levering are in the cast.

Southern California. He and his scenario writer, Thomas Delmar, conceived the idea of producing a "flood picture, and the result has been titled "Flooded With Trouble."

Theresa Le May, now playing a prominent role with Miss Petrova in "Playing With Fire," was a successful broker in Wall Street, until he was overwhelmed in the panic of five years ago.

"At the Eleventh Hour" is the title of a drama being produced by the American Mutual Company, in which Winifred Greenwood, Edward Coxen and George Field play the leading roles.

Babe Miller, the funny man, who is also director of Voge comedies, recently displayed his initiative when he was being crowded for productions during the spell of rainy weather in the Scotch drama.

The play is in seven reels, and forms a complete program in itself. Every vagabond, scoundrel, scrounger, Billie is given full play in "Peggy." She is allowed to act through every possible emotion. She drives a "red devil" at sixty miles an hour through a Scotch village on a Sunday morning while the villagers are in "kirk" and then goes to minister to a needy family.

By no means a small part of the program will be the incidental music and the interpolated song "Peggy," written for and dedicated to Miss Burke.

For Wednesday and Thursday, Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and

intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.

A number to get rid of an unwanted husband, a second marriage and memory are the implements wielded by the scenario writer to build this latest Fox triumph. In support of

Miss Horner will be seen Walter McCallum, Rhys Alexander, Henry Arden, Louis Calhern, Alec B. Francis, John Hines, Mary Booth and Charles W. Charles. Beban is at the Colonial-to-morrow and Tuesday.

For Wednesday and Thursday Violin Horner and an all-star Fox cast is announced. The play will be "The Man Who Laughs," built upon love and intrigue, with an exciting conclusion bringing out the terrible retributions.